UTAH DISABILITY DETERMINATION COUNCIL SEEKS NEW MEMBERS

April 24, 2012 by cpehrson

The Utah Disability Determination Services is currently recruiting for volunteer members to fill vacancies on its Advisory Council.

DDS is the agency which makes the disability decisions on Social Security applications. The Advisory Council members are either an individual with a disability or parent of an individual with a disability who has life experience within the SSA programs or an organizations appointed employee who works with the disability community, such as health care agencies or state agencies.

The advisory council meets every other month with Disability Determination Services key staff, to provide advice on various matters. The meetings are held in Salt Lake City. If interested, please contact the council chair, Gordon Richins at gordon.richins@usu.edu or phone 435-797-2832
